PROJECTS

BiteBot – AI-Powered Recipe & Culinary Platform (Full Stack Team Project)   (12/2025)
Role: Backend Developer | Tech Used: Node.js, Express, MongoDB, JWT, Cloudinary, OpenAI API

- Led the complete backend development of a team-based AI culinary platform, designing scalable REST APIs and modular architecture for recipe management, subscriptions, and personalized recommendations.
- Built end-to-end backend features, including Recipe CRUD operations, AI-enhanced search endpoints, user profiles, bookmarks, and secure subscription workflows using Express, MongoDB, and Mongoose.
- Implemented robust security and authentication, integrating JWT-based auth, role-based access control, input validation, and environment-based secret management to ensure data integrity and secure user operations.
- Collaborated seamlessly with frontend and AI teammates, delivering well-documented API contracts, improving integration efficiency, and ensuring consistent functionality across the platform.
